Dear President Mitchell:

FULLERTON

In your capacity as the chair of the former California State University Task Force on the Advancement of Ethnic Studies, I am sending you the attached status report on campus responses to the Task Force recommendations. While this is by no means an exhaustive list, the report includes many of the actions campuses have taken in response to the July 2016 Task Force report.

HUMBOLDT

LONG BEACH

In the pages of this status report, you will see examples of our campuses' commitment to growing and strengthening ethnic studies to ensure students, faculty and the larger campus community benefit from these important programs. From 2015-16 to 2016-17, the number of faculty hires in ethnic studies departments and disciplines systemwide more than doubled, and more students are enrolling in ethnic studies courses and pursuing majors in these fields.

Status Report on Campus Responses to Recommendations by the CSU Task Force on the Advancement of Ethnic Studies

November 2017

In July 2016, the California State University Task Force on the Advancement of Ethnic Studies delivered its report to Chancellor Timothy P. White. Chaired by CSU Bakersfield President Horace Mitchell, the task force comprised students, faculty and administrators. The final report is available at www.calstate.edu/AcadAff/ethnicstudiesreport.pdf.

Chancellor White shared the Task Force's report with the CSU community and directed each campus to study the report and use the Task Force's recommendations to guide their efforts to further align campus priorities and culture with the mission of the CSU, so that this institution can better meet the needs of our students, California and society in general. During their annual summer conferences in 2017, each CSU president discussed with the Chancellor the on-campus programmatic and staffing actions that are being undertaken in response to the Task Force's important work.

We are pleased to report that our campuses are putting into practice many of the Task Force's recommendations as they work to affirm and grow ethnic studies at the CSU. This is not to say that our work is done. Quite to the contrary, as the report notes, ethnic studies in higher education faces myriad challenges, some (but not all) of which are financial in nature. We must – and will – continue to work together to remove obstacles to CSU's mission to prepare students to live and work in a global, pluralistic society so that they may enrich and contribute to California's schools, economy, culture and future.

Areas of Action

The following areas of action – representing common threads in campus responses – illustrate the engagement, innovation and inclusive excellence of the CSU community.

Increasing access to ethnic studies courses

Campuses have hired additional faculty in ethnic studies programs to develop and teach new courses and additional course sections. At some campuses, general education programming or campus graduation requirements have been redesigned to include an emphasis on ethnic studies. At others, courses offered by ethnic studies departments have been redesigned to ensure availability to students earlier in their education. These efforts will result in more student awareness – earlier in their college years – of ethnic studies curricula and the opportunity to enroll in these courses.

Utilizing ethnic studies programs as a gateway to deepening the educational experience

These initiatives recognize that learning encompasses far more than the classroom, and therefore include efforts to enhance academic advising to highlight opportunities associated with ethnic studies, such as hosting academic seminars and skill development workshops. It also includes efforts to ensure classroom learning integrates high-impact practices that best support students. For example, campuses have organized their own ethnic studies events to share best practices and facilitate a national dialogue.

Strengthening connections between ethnic studies programs and the wider community

These initiatives have the dual benefit of expanding the audience for ethnic studies programming and providing expert instruction to CSU students. California's Assembly Bill 2016, signed into law in September 2016, introduces new ethnic studies curricula in California public schools and has provided many opportunities for local collaboration. For example, several campus ethnic studies programs now work closely with local school districts and community colleges to assist in the development of their ethnic studies courses. In addition, campuses look to community experts to assist in developing new CSU course curricula.

Integrating ethnic studies programs in the larger picture of campus climate and culture

Many campuses are expanding ethnic studies programming with the goal of reaching a larger segment of the campus community, as part of an ongoing commitment to the mission and values of the CSU. Without exception, all CSU campuses are committed to ensuring that the values of diversity, inclusion and fairness predominate in the fabric of our community and are reinforced at every opportunity among and between our students, faculty and staff. To that end, campuses also work with community leaders in a proactive manner to address potential campus climate issues before they arise.

Organized by recommendation of the Task Force, the following lists represent campus actions specific to ethnic studies programming. While these lists provide a thorough overview, they are in no way exhaustive – either in the campuses participating in each action or in listing all the ways campuses have advanced ethnic studies since July 2016. Nor does this status report include the many actions taken prior to July 2016.

Recommendation 1: Ethnic Studies General Education (GE) Requirement—Make ethnic studies a GE requirement throughout the CSU system

As was referenced in Chancellor White’s letter accompanying the Task Force report, the recommendations were expected to inform – but not constrain – the regular planning process of each campus. While ethnic studies has not been made a GE requirement throughout the CSU system, the report’s recommendations are informing campus actions. Campuses are ensuring ethnic studies courses are well represented in GE categories, incorporating themes and language from the Task Force report into GE policy and strengthening graduation requirements that include ethnic studies courses.

Recommendation 2: Essential Hiring–Increase and maintain regular and consistent hiring in ethnic studies in order to ensure its vital sustainment and strategic growth

Since the release of the Task Force report, the CSU has increased the number of faculty hires in ethnic studies departments and disciplines. Systemwide, the university hired 11 faculty in ethnic studies in 2015. In 2017, that figure more than doubled, with 23 faculty hired. This highlights the important and expanding role of ethnic studies in the CSU.

Recommendation 3: Curriculum Development–Support curricular development in ways that strengthen ethnic studies departments and programs, increase enrollment and open access to a wider range of students curricular options.

Across the CSU, the number of undergraduate students pursuing majors in ethnic studies disciplines increased between fall 2016 and fall 2017. The Full-Time Equivalent Students (FTES) for ethnic studies similarly increased from college year 2015-16 to 2016-17. Degrees conferred in ethnic studies disciplines also rose between college years 2015-16 and 2016-17. Charts are included as an appendix. These increases can be partially attributed to the actions campuses have taken to strengthen ethnic studies departments and programs and to increased course offerings.

Action	Campuses
New or increased course offerings in ethnic studies or related study areas	Bakersfield Chico Dominguez Hills East Bay Fresno Fullerton Humboldt Long Beach Los Angeles Northridge Pomona Sacramento San Bernardino San Diego San Francisco San José San Luis Obispo Sonoma Stanislaus

Recommendation 4: Advising Support–Revise and strengthen advising practices on and off campus and on on-line systems to reflect the university’s valuing ethnic studies as vital to its educational mission.

The CSU has been working to strengthen advising services for all students. As part of these efforts, campuses are taking steps to improve the integration of ethnic studies in advising services. In doing so, campuses are working to ensure that students taking these courses have the support they need and that all students are aware of ethnic studies course offerings.

Action	Campuses
Included ethnic studies faculty in development of advising tools	Channel Islands East Bay Fullerton Humboldt Long Beach Los Angeles Pomona Sacramento
Provided training for all advisors on the history and contributions of ethnic studies	Bakersfield East Bay Fullerton Long Beach Los Angeles Pomona

Recommendation 5: Campus Climate—Aid in fostering and creating a climate conducive to reaffirming ethnic studies’ central role in diversity and equity initiatives as they relate to people of color.

The CSU educates the most ethnically diverse student body in the nation and is committed to fostering a campus climate that is inclusive of all students. Ethnic studies courses are critical in this endeavor. Campuses are working to increase the visibility of ethnic studies among the larger campus community to ensure an inclusive environment that is welcoming for all students.

Recommendation 6: Community Engagement–Strengthen and expand initiatives on community engagement and partnerships.

All CSU campuses have strong community partnerships, often with long histories of engagement. Following the Task Force report, campuses worked to strengthen and expand these partnerships to provide a richer academic experience for students in ethnic studies programs and to bring ethnic studies curricula to the larger community.

Action	Campuses

Recommendation 7: Best Practices—Build on and expand best practices of both ethnic studies and the various universities of CSU, incentivizing the embrace and use of these practices through providing and supporting appropriate resources, policies and programmatic initiatives.

As part of Graduation Initiative 2025, the CSU is implementing high-impact practices aimed at strengthening student success and closing equity and achievement gaps. Campuses are utilizing these best practices within ethnic studies, to ensure students receive the highest quality education and learn the skills they need to be successful in the future.

Recommendation 8: CSU-ESC Collaboration—Establish a formal relationship with the CSU-wide Ethnic Studies Council in CSU’s ongoing effort to advance ethnic studies and realize its mission.

As previously noted, in their 2017 annual summer conferences, each CSU president discussed with the Chancellor the on-campus programmatic and staffing actions that are being undertaken in response to the Task Force’s important work. Most campuses did not indicate whether formal relationships had been established with the CSU-wide Ethnic Studies Council. However, several campuses referenced the engagement of faculty in the Ethnic Studies Council. For example, ethnic studies faculty from California State University, Stanislaus are actively involved in the Ethnic Studies Council, and the campus will be hosting a conference in 2018. California State University, Los Angeles supports the continued leadership of the campus’ Pan-African studies chair on the Ethnic Studies Council, as well as the involvement of other chairs and the new Office of the Vice Provost for Diversity and Student Engagement. Opportunities remain open for campuses to directly engage with the CSU-wide Ethnic Studies Council.

Recommendation 9: Further Study—Conduct systemwide and campus level 360° diversity/equity assessment examining the unique challenges and contributions of ethnic studies, its related academic and campus life initiatives and future promises.

While this status report provides a snapshot of campuses’ activities to grow and strengthen ethnic studies, more work remains. Campuses are making long-term investments and participating in campus assessments aimed at ensuring ethnic studies are woven seamlessly into students’ college experiences now and in the future.

Action	Campuses
Hired a senior administrator (or established a group of experts) focused on issues of diversity, equity and inclusion	Bakersfield Channel Islands East Bay Fullerton Humboldt Los Angeles Monterey Bay Northridge Pomona Sacramento San Francisco San José San Luis Obispo San Marcos
Participated in either an internal or external assessment focused on the climate for diversity and ethnic studies, including institutional practices, curricula development and co-curricular diversity activities	Channel Islands Chico Dominguez Hills East Bay Fresno Fullerton Humboldt Long Beach Los Angeles Monterey Bay Pomona Sacramento San Francisco San José San Marcos
Planned a 360° diversity/equity assessment examining the unique challenges and contributions of ethnic studies to be conducted in the next year	Channel Islands Los Angeles Northridge Pomona Sacramento

Recommendation 10: Continued Moratorium—In order to encourage and create the climate for continued growth and advancement of ethnic studies in the CSU, maintain the moratorium on any adverse changes to ethnic studies departments and programs during the period of the review, discussion and response to this report.

Campuses have honored the moratorium on adverse changes to ethnic studies departments and programs. Chancellor White's letter that accompanied the Ethnic Studies Task Force report provides a system response to this recommendation. Below is an excerpt from that communication.

The second set of recommendations (Recommendations 10.1-10.3) focus on maintaining the moratorium that has been in place for the past 2-1/2 years with respect to changes in ethnic studies programs and departments, particularly faculty reductions. I accept the task force recommendations to maintain the moratorium during AY 2016-17 for review, discussion and response to the report, and lift the moratorium effective July 2017. I also expect that any campus decisions regarding the status and administrative design of ethnic studies departments and programs will take the report's contents into consideration. But the ethnic studies report should not constrain the regular academic planning process of each campus, rather it should be one factor that informs the planning.

Conclusion

This status report is a snapshot of many of the numerous actions that CSU campuses are taking to implement the recommendations of the Task Force and strengthen ethnic studies. Ethnic studies courses, programs and departments are – and will always be – an integral component of the CSU’s public mission to ensure every student has the opportunity for a high quality and inclusive academic experience.

The California State University remains deeply committed to ethnic studies and looks forward to finding creative and effective ways to develop further these programs throughout the system.
